Thesaurus Type		Date	M20

Externally, the shelter forms a linear earthwork about 95 metres long punctuated by six tubular concrete exit points. The Stanton Ironworks Company was one of the main producers of sectional concrete shelters. From the late 1930's all new factories were obliged to provide purpose-built air raid shelters, so their survival is not unusual. However, this shelter may be a prototype and its presence on the manufacturer's site makes it exemplary.
