Q1. Is there an alternative method of calculating our housing requirements that should be used instead of the Government’s standard methodology? If so, what is it and why should it be used?
Q2. Are there any other strategic growth options that we should have considered? If so, what are they?

Q3. Are the conclusions of the Sustainability Appraisal of the options correct? If not, why not and what should the conclusions be?
Q4. Should any of the sites identified as preferred options for growth be rejected? If so, why?

Q5. Should any other sites be identified as preferred options for growth? If so, why?
General Comments:

Please use additional pages if required.

Explanation

Housing Requirement – This is the number of houses the government thinks should be built in each council area. The council wants to know if this is the right number of houses for Erewash.

Strategic Growth Options - These are the different places where houses could be built. The council wants to know if there are other places where housing could be built.

Sustainability Appraisal - This works out which are the best places to build houses. The council wants to know if this assessment is right.

Preferred Options – These are the places the council thinks are best to build houses. The council wants to know if these are the right places.
